Overview

The COVID-19 pandemic acted as a real-life stress test of existing Operational risk frameworks implemented by financial services firms, as organisations deal with challenges related to people, systems, processes and external environment. It called for the re-think of approaches, attitudes and behaviours. This interactive course provides a succinct and practical overview of the key changes in established Operational risk management practices based on the lessons learnt from the crisis. Live virtual sessions are structured around the core framework tools, clearly outlining how each component can be improved.

This essential course is packed with practical tips and hints and features results of multiple industry live polls taken by risk practitioners throughout the pandemic, which provide an invaluable insight on current practices and allow participants to benchmark themselves against other firms. Each session ends with Make A Difference discussion, where attendees share their takeaways that will make a real difference to their organization.

As a special bonus, each attendee will receive a copy of the brand-new book authored by Ms Pykhova, Operational Risk Management in Financial Services: A Practical Guide to Establishing Effective Solutions.
