I believe that the market has responded well to our mission, which is to approach credit management with the awareness that we are dealing with people, families and businesses, not just debtors. Special thanks go to those who believed in this exciting challenge, namely the high-profile investors who decided to bet on our business model, as well as to the entire ISCC Fintech team of professionals, and finally to our advisors who led us through the listing process. Starting from tomorrow, we will continue on our path with even greater enthusiasm, investing further in technology and people, in the awareness, as our President reminds us, that credit management can also help families and businesses so that they can once again be players in the world of credit."*
