INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGY

Investment Objective. The objective of the Sub-Fund is to provide income and capital appreciation from the US equity market.

Investment Policy. The Sub-Fund aims to achieve its investment objective by investing at least 80% of its Net Asset Value in US large cap equities and equity-related securities, as described below.

For the avoidance of doubt, investors should note that the Sub-Fund will not track the performance of the Index, rather the Sub-Fund will hold a portfolio of actively selected and managed investments. The Investment Manager has discretion in selecting investments within the Sub-Fund's objective and investment policies. The Index is used for performance comparison purposes. While many of the Sub-Fund's securities will be components of the Index, the weightings of the holdings may differ materially from the weightings in the Index. The Sub-Fund may also invest in securities that are not included in the Index. The Sub-Fund's percentage exposures to sectors and industries may differ materially from those of the Index and the Sub-Fund does not have any particular sector or industry focus.

In selecting the assets for the Sub-Fund, the Investment Manager invests in equity securities and equity-related securities with dividend yields that the Investment Manager believes are attractive, while seeking capital appreciation and a lower level of volatility than the broader equity market as measured by the S&P 500® Index.

In analysing equity securities, the Investment Manager considers a variety of factors, including: a security's value relative to other equities, based on such factors as anticipated cash flow, interest or dividend coverage, asset coverage and earnings prospects; the experience and strength of the issuing company's management; the company's changing financial condition and market recognition of the change; the company's sensitivity to changes in interest rates and business conditions; and the company's debt maturity schedules and borrowing requirements. When choosing investments for the Sub-Fund, the Investment Manager applies an approach which assesses securities using fundamental values, such as the market price of a company's securities relative to the Investment Manager's evaluation of the company's long-term earnings or the value of its assets, while also being focussed on the income which they may generate, from the Investment Manager's assessment of their cash flow potential, price/earnings ratio and profit margins. The Sub-Fund maintains the flexibility to invest in securities of companies from a variety of economic or industrial sectors, but from time to time, based on economic conditions, the Sub-Fund may have substantial investments in particular sectors in which US large cap companies have a significant market share.

The Sub-Fund invests in a diversified portfolio of transferable securities consisting of equity and equity related securities. The equity and equity related securities in which the Sub-Fund can invest include common stocks, preferred stocks, equity-linked notes (ELNs) and securities convertible into common stocks (such as, convertible bonds, convertible preferred shares and rights but excluding contingent convertible securities), where such securities provide the Sub-Fund with similar economic characteristics to equities.

ELNs are hybrid instruments whose overall return is linked to the price performance of a reference equity exposure together with a coupon component (i.e. an interest payment). While ELNs can adopt a variety of structural forms, the Sub-Fund will invest solely in ELNs which are issued by banks and are structured to deliver an income stream through the coupon together with the potential of a return from the increase in the price of the underlying equity exposure. These ELNs may embed a variety of equity related derivatives to provide the underlying equity exposure: call and put options on equity securities and UCITS eligible equity indices, futures on equity securities and UCITS eligible equity indices and options on UCITS eligible equity index futures. The ELNs traded by the Sub-Fund are traded on Recognised Markets, such as the over-the-counter market in Europe and in the United States conducted by primary and secondary dealers and by banking institutions. ELNs are issued as medium term notes under a base prospectus (European issuances) or base offering memorandum (US issuances), which must be approved by a national competent authority or regulator before it can be published and used to offer securities to the public or admit them to trading on a Recognised Market.

In addition, to ensure secure clearing and settlement, these issuances are centralised through international and domestic central securities depositories and are registered or centralised with Clearstream or Euroclear in the case of European issuances or the DTCC for US issuances. The Sub-Fund may invest in ELNs to generate additional income, through the coupon payments, and to obtain exposure to specific equities, or UCITS eligible equity indices of the types in which the Sub-Fund would otherwise invest directly as described above, without having to acquire the underlying securities directly or where it may be operationally or economically more efficient rather than through direct investment. Under normal market conditions, the Investment Manager anticipates that the Sub-Fund's exposure to ELNs will typically be within 30% – 40% of the Net Asset Value. The maximum exposure of the Sub-Fund to ELNs will be 50% of the Net Asset Value.

A maximum of 20% of the Sub-Fund's Net Asset Value may be invested in securities of non-US issuers, including American Depository Receipts. A maximum of 10% of the Sub-Fund's Net Asset Value may be invested in units or shares of other regulated, open-ended collective investment schemes as described under "Investment in Collective Investment Schemes" in the "Investment Techniques" section of the Prospectus where the objectives of such funds are consistent with the objective of the Sub-Fund.

The Sub-Fund may hold ancillary liquid assets (deposits and commercial paper) in accordance with the UCITS Regulations.

The Sub-Fund may for investment, hedging and efficient portfolio management purposes, and in accordance with the conditions and limits imposed by the Central Bank, use FDI, including FDI which are embedded in ELNs. The Sub-Fund may use FDI to hedge various investments, for risk management purposes and / or to seek to increase income or gain to the Sub-Fund. The Sub-Fund may also use FDI for investment purposes by investing in derivatives that have economic characteristics and provide investment exposure similar to equity securities. These FDI may be either dealt on regulated markets or over-the-counter and will comprise options on equity securities, UCITS eligible equity indices, UCITS eligible equity index futures; currency futures; and forward foreign currency exchange contracts (both deliverable and non-deliverable) and swaps. Any use of FDI for these purposes, are described under "Use of Financial Derivative Instruments" in the "Investment Techniques" section of the Prospectus. The global exposure relating to FDIs will not exceed 100% of the Sub-Fund's Net Asset Value.
