3. Investment Objective and Strategy

Investment Objective. The Sub-Fund's investment objective is to seek capital appreciation over the long term.

Investment Policy. The Sub-Fund will be actively managed by the Sub-Investment Manager. The Sub-Fund will seek to achieve its objective by investing in equities and equity related securities of companies globally involved in the development of artificial intelligence technology ("AI") and other technologies companies which benefit from technology diffusion, being the process whereby new technological developments spread from the initial developers to more widespread commercial use ("Tech Diffusion"). The Sub-Fund may also invest in money market instruments (such as short and medium-term treasury bills and treasury notes, and certificates of deposit and bankers' acceptances) for cash management purposes. Such equity related securities are common and preference shares, American depositary receipts and global depository receipts, securities convertible into or exchangeable for such equities (such as convertible preference shares), listed real estate investment trusts ("REITs") and other closed-ended listed funds including listed investment trusts.

The Sub-Fund is not subject to any geographic limitations in terms of investment and there is no limit on the extent to which the Sub-Fund may be invested in emerging markets. Accordingly, an investment in this Sub-Fund should not constitute a substantial proportion of an investment portfolio and may not be appropriate for all investors.

Investment Process: In implementing the investment policy the Sub-Investment Manager will consider the output of the thematic research team within Morgan Stanley & Co. International plc ("MS Research"). MS Research conducts global fundamental thematic research to identify a universe of companies with exposure to an investment theme in respect of AI and Tech Diffusion. MS Research then applies a quantitative methodology which includes assessing liquidity of the basket of equities, adjusting for market exposure and geographical factors and excluding any stocks which are (i) not constituents of the Performance Benchmark or (ii) listed on the Shanghai, Shenzen or any Indian Stock Exchanges. The quantitative methodology produces a model portfolio of equities which have the highest exposure to the AI and Tech Diffusion theme.

The Sub-Investment Manager is responsible for the construction and management of the Sub-Fund's portfolio. In doing so, the Sub-Investment Manager independently reviews and assesses any model portfolio received from MS Research, taking into account the investment objective, investment policy, UCITS diversification requirements, liquidity considerations, sanctions screening, portfolio risk characteristics and other applicable investment restrictions and regulatory requirements. The Sub-Investment Manager retains full discretion as to whether and how the model portfolio is utilised and in its construction of the Sub-Fund portfolio, may modify, supplement, exclude or replace any securities identified by MS Research. The composition of the Sub-Fund's portfolio may therefore differ from any model portfolio generated by MS Research.

On a quarterly basis, the portfolio of the Sub-Fund will be rebalanced by the Sub-Investment Manager following the above process.

The Sub-Fund is actively managed by the Sub-Investment Manager. For comparison purposes, investors can compare the Sub-Fund's long-term performance to the Performance Benchmark, the MSCI ACWI Index Net Total Return (USD) as indicative of the performance of the investment policy against global equities. The Performance Benchmark is a stock index designed to track broad global equity-market performance. The Performance Benchmark comprises the stocks of nearly 3,000 companies from 23 developed countries and 25 emerging markets. The Sub-Fund will seek to outperform the performance of the Performance Benchmark over the long term. The Performance Benchmark is not used for risk management purposes but is also used by MS Research for portfolio construction purposes as outlined in further detail above.

Use of Financial Derivative Instruments. The Sub-Fund may buy and sell currencies on a spot and forward basis. A forward currency exchange contract involves an obligation to purchase or sell a specific currency at a future date at a price set at the time of the contract and such contracts will be used for hedging purposes. The Sub-Fund may also use option contracts and warrants in order to take exposure to securities described above. An option contract or a warrant give the buyer the ability, but not the obligation to, purchase a particular security if the security hits a certain price. Additional information in relation to FDI is contained under "Use of Financial Derivative Instruments" in the "Investment Objectives and Policies" section of the Prospectus.

Securities Financing Transactions. The Sub-Fund will have no exposure to repurchase agreements or reverse repurchase agreements or total return swaps. The Sub-Fund may engage in securities lending and it is expected that 0-10% of the Sub-Fund's assets may be subject to securities lending arrangements, with no more than 33% of the Sub-Fund's assets being subject to securities lending arrangements.

Portfolio Holding Disclosure Policy. The Sub-Fund will publicly disclose its complete holdings on a daily basis. Details of the Sub-Fund's holdings and full disclosure policy may be found on the Website.

Please see "Sustainability Risks, Principal Adverse Impacts and Taxonomy Regulation" in the Prospectus for details as to how Sustainability Risks could impact the Sub-Fund. The Manager, the Investment Manager and Sub-Investment Manager do not take Sustainability Risks into account in the investment decisions in respect of the Sub-Fund as they do not consider these a core element of the investment strategy of the Sub-Fund and the methodology applied by MS Research, which the Sub-Investment Manager may choose to adopt, does not take account of sustainability risks when producing the model portfolio.
